Hurricane expo set for May 30

Forecasters are predicting a slower-than-normal hurricane season this year, but it only takes one storm to cause major destruction. Are you ready?

Learn how to prepare your home for the next big wind storm during a free Hurricane Expo from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, May 30, at Lowe’s, 1340 W. Granada Blvd., Ormond Beach.

Emergency management officials and agency volunteers will display home preparedness products and offer tips on personal preparedness, home safety and animal issues.

Representatives will be on hand from the Ormond Beach Fire Department, the Florida Department of Health’s Medical Reserve Corps, Volusia County Emergency Management, Community Organizations Active in Disaster, American Red Cross, and other organizations.

The event is sponsored by Volusia County Emergency Management and Community Organizations Active in Disaster, a multi-agency group that assists local governments in coordinating volunteers and resources to assist local disaster survivors.

Hurricane season runs from June 1 through Nov. 30.

For more information contact Pat White at pwhite@volusia.org or 386-254-1500, ext. 11245.
